OFFICIAL NOTICES

Trade Marks Manual of Practice and Procedure

Revision of Part 27 – Overcoming Grounds for Rejection under Section 44 – Practice in relation to Letters of Consent

Part 27 of the Trade Marks Manual has been revised to clarify the circumstances under which letters of consent to overcome grounds for rejection under Section 44 are to be considered.

The clarification indicates that the Registrar is prepared to consider consent to be persuasive in those cases where the trade marks are substantially identical, the goods or services the same and the trade marks are used in the same markets.

In some cases the Registrar will also consider a general letter of consent persuasive if it confirms that one party is prepared to consent to any trade mark applications made by another party.

The general letter of consent must meet the same requirements as a specific letter of consent in relation to the name of the owner providing the consent and to the signatory of the letter. It must also identify the applicant to whom the general consent is being given. However, the general consent document need not identify the applicant's mark or the specific goods and services being claimed.

Each time a copy of the general letter of consent is filed or referred to, the applicant or their agent must supply a covering letter certifying that the general consent is still valid and indicating the file to which the general letter of consent is attached.
